

USACEHR mobile biomonitoring facilities provide continuous surveillance of water quality conditions for the protection of drinking water quality, source water protection, and waste effluent monitoring.

Monitoring drinking water quality at a New York City reservoir

Source water monitoring at a Marine Corps facility, Cherry Point, NC

Monitoring for Pfiesteria-related toxicity and other water quality perturbations on the Chicamacomico River in Maryland